

COUNTY BORROWS NEEDED MONEY

Four Banks Loan County Sum Needed Until The Taxes Come In

MAINTAIN CASH BASIS

At a special meeting of the fiscal court Wednesday arrangements were concluded for borrowing the sum of $15,200 from several banks of the county for the purpose of taking care of the outstanding debts against the county and to finance the county until the 1914 revenue comes in this fall.

The order of the court sets forth that the notes of the county due six months from date were executed to the following banks in the following amounts respectively:

Bank of Earlington $4,700.
Bank of Dawson $5,000.
Peoples Bank of Hanson $3,000.
Citizens Bank of Nebo $2,500.

It was ordered that the county treasurer leave the money so borrowed in the respective banks to be paid out upon his order from time to time, and after the revenues of the county are collected and a surplus is on hand, the said surplus is to be deposited in said banks pro rata to the amount loaned.

This action of the court will be hailed with pleasure by all having claims against the county.

Government Will Build

Dam Above Evansville
Evansville, Ind., July 1.—The Federal Government has closed a contract for a ten-acre tract of land on the Ohio River, 12 miles above here, where a $2,000,000 dam will be built. It is announced that the contract for the new dam will be let this fall and that work on it will start as soon as Dam 48, seventeen miles below here, is completed.

Watering Hanging Plants.
The difficulty in watering hanging plants is that the water drains on to the floor. If a very small funnel is inserted in the soil, hidden by the foliage, and the water poured in this, it will gradually seep into the soil without dripping on the floor.

CALIFORNIA VOLCANO IN VIOLENT ERUPTION

Mount Lassen Raining Ashes on The Surrounding Country for Thirteen Miles

Redding, Cal., July 1.—The most violent and terrifying eruption of Mount Lassen, the American volcano, in its present period of activity, began at 5:45 a. m. today. Dense smoke ascended from the crater for a distance of nearly a mile and then "mushroomed" out, raining ashes on the surrounding country. Ashes fell thirteen miles from the volcano, and Volta, twenty-two miles away, was inconvenienced by sulphur fumes.

The eruption continued for an hour, and then the smoke settled down on the mountain two, obscuring the view. Besides the main crater, a new incipient crater far down the north slope of the mountain smoked today for the first time.

Forest rangers have been on the alert to protect tourists, who began rushing toward the mountain as soon as yesterday's eruption was observed.

Sweltering and Statesmanship

Obstreperous politicians have given up all hope of adjourning Congress, and it is said that the Democratic leaders are agreed with President Wilson that the anti-trust legislation must be on the statute books before the final curtain is rung down on the present session. In Boston, a favorite "humorist" has remarked that "when the days begin to shorten, the heat begins to shorten." In support of the New England rhyme it is observed that since the 22nd of June the weather has been so hot in the National Capital that the pavements have furnished an elasticity that ought to make the ad-writers for O'Sullivan's rubber heels green with envy, because of their lack of power of description. The general notion that a Senator or a Representative is a big fat man who fuds it necessary to mop his perspiring countenance with a handkerchief about the size of a pillow-case, is a little far fetched—but the facts and the leas who are saving the country actually do flourish best in the shade. Most of them are apt to be discovered arrayed in light flannel or duck suits, and the negligee costume is completed with tailored silk shirts and white shoes. The net result is that in Washington people appear much as they do in the tropics. The older members of Congress have spent their summers at the Capital for six years, and with the heat to goad them, even the belligerents have given up the ghost of resistance, and surrendered to the wishes of the Administration. In fact, a good many of the mighty solons are in an almost comatose condition, and are quite willing to put through almost any kind of anti-trust bills, providing they can hasten the return to their own ballistics, and give their attention to their political fences, which in many cases are badly out of repair. Last year Congress had a continuous performance, and there was no vacation, and as the time approaches when the frost will be on the pumpkin and the fodder in the shock, sweltering statesmen hope to forswear head aches politics, and renew their friendly relations with old cronies and neighbors. It is a queer sort of a statesman that is not ready to say "amen" to the demand of the country that Congress adjourn.

PSYCHOLOGICAL DEPRESSION

Comments on President's Discovery of an Organized Campaign Against Trust Legislation

The New York American says, editorially: Following out his theory that the business depression is merely "psychological," the President now declares that it is all the result of an organized campaign against his proposed anti-trust legislation. Because he has some evidence of a concerted effort to create sentiment against that legislation, he leaps to the conclusion that the business situation is artificially depressed. Indeed, he insists that business is not depressed at all, but is better than it was a year ago.

Unhappily, the facts do not justify his belief. Here are a few figures bearing on the first year of business under Wilson:

The bank clearings of all the clearing houses of the United States for the week ending June 13 1914, were $3,052,167,894, for the corresponding week in 1913 the were $3,381,522,687 or a loss this year, of 9.7 percent.

Clearings in Philadelphia, the first manufacturing city in the United States, were less by $13,384,311, or 19.3%, than last year.

At the beginning of the Wilson administration the U. S. Steel Corporation had unfilled orders for 7,932,164 tons of its books. May 31st it reported only 3,998,160. The cessation of orders for steel had been constant.

At the end of May, 1913, there were 60,291 idle cars; on the same date this year there were 242,672.

In May, 1913, 7,284,212 tons of Lake Superior ore were carried; this May $852,038—a reduction of almost one-half.

The gross earnings of the railroads for May show a reduction over the year before of no less than 11.42%.

The building permits for the first five months of 1914 in 77 active centers, as compared with those of 1913, show a falling off of $22,271,249—a heavy loss felt mainly by mechanics and tradesmen.

In May of this year the commercial failures involved liabilities not only much larger than during the same month last year, but the largest for that month in fourteen years. This year they totaled $23,447,496 as against $16,863,804 in May a year ago.

In April, 1914, the excess of our imports over exports was $11,345,606. In the same month of 1913 our exports exceeded our imports by $33,618,977.

It has been remarked that the President has been addicted to studying maxima rather than markets. Lately he has added to this trait a passion for psychology rather than plain business sense.

County Officials and Fiscal Court on Tour of Inspection Make Good Report

Members of the Fiscal court, with Judge Mills, Attorney Sybert and Road Engineer Stone, are out on an inspection of the roads of the county that have been let by contract, three automobiles being at the service of the officials for making the inspection.

Wednesday a trip was made through the White Plains country, covering eighty miles during the day. In this section the roads were said to have been in very good condition, only a few sections not coming up to the contract, but as a whole they are in good shape. Thursday the court visited the Nebo country and today a trip over the roads through the Hanson country will be made. Next week the remainder of the work of the contractors in the county will be gone over.

Madisonville to Have

Good Fire Department

Madisonville, Ky.—After many years of suffering for the lack of an efficient fire department, Madisonville is to have an organized fire department equipped with new wagons and apparatus. The wagon has been ordered from the Forbes Manufacturing Co., at Hopkinsville and is expected to arrive about the first of next month. The wagon will carry hose, ladders, chemical extinguishers, etc. A store house on south Main street has been rented and is being fitted up as a fire barn. John L. Brien will be chief.

Whitfield-Ecke

Miss Marjorie Whitfield, of near this place, and Mr. F. A. Ecke, of Maishfield, Wis., were united in matrimony at the home of the bride Tuesday evening. Rev. Howard J. Brazelton, of this city, performed the ceremony in his usual impressive manner. Miss Ella Williams was maid of honor and Mr. Frank Cain best man. The bride wore a veil, her dress was white silk crepe and she carried a bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. The bridal pair went to St. Paul on their honeymoon. Miss Whitfield is the daughter of Hatch Whitfield and a sister of Mrs. Ed Rule, of this place, and is a lovely young lady with a host of friends. Mr. Ecke is a railroad engineer and has a splendid position on the Northern Pacific R. R.

TO THE BUTCHER AND BACK

How Jack Won the Price of a Steer While he Went for Steak

Jack Stokes made a record run to the butcher shop and back this week. The time he made bids fair to establish a new mark for locomotive engineers on the Henderson Division, and they do say that Jack was some runner before he went out after this steak. It was Sunday morning he left home, before breakfast, to run the meat market for choice cuts. He got home Wednesday noon to explain his absence to a waiting household, without any beef—that one could see. Just how he was able to square himself is not known but Jack is rated as a resourceful engineer and he sawed by some how or other. Best of all, he is said to have earned the price of a short-horn steer on his notable run to the butcher and back.

Nine Years Will See

Streams Full of Trout

Plans to completely restock all trout streams and lakes throughout the national forests of Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota, within a period of 9 years, are well under way, as the result of the approval by the federal bureau of fisheries of a plan of operation prepared by the forest service. The bureau of fisheries has promised to furnish the necessary fish fry for distribution to the various forests, the shipments of fry to be directed to railroad stations nearest the waters to be stocked so that as many streams as possible may be supplied from a central point. The planting of all fry will be performed by forest officers who will keep close check on the results of the work.

According to the estimates of the forest officers, approximately 20 million trout fry of the brook, rainbow, and black spotted varieties will be needed to meet the requirements of all the waters adaptable to the production of trout. Of this great number the bureau of fisheries is prepared to supply something over four and a half million this year and a gradually decreasing number each successive year for a total of nine, at the end of which time it is expected that the complete restocking will have been accomplished. The estimates are said to cover 273 streams and lakes in the three states.

The restocking of national forest streams in all states where such forests are situated, including those now being acquired in the White Mountains and the Southern Appalachians, will be given attention as rapidly as supplies of fish fry become available for planting purposes. The forest service is admirably organized to carry on work of this kind and does so with practically no interference with regular activities since the fish must be handled with the utmost haste and frequently during the late evening or early morning hours. The production of the existing federal and state fish hatcheries is hardly adequate to meet all demands, however, and therefore the work has to be done in installments.

What Else Could He Do?
"Henry," said Mrs. Jason to her husband the other evening, "did you get a letter for me today?" "No, mother," meekly replied Hank, "there was nothing for you." "Henry," said the old lady very sternly, "I want you to speak to the postmaster in the morning and ask him to look around carefully. There must be a letter there for me." Henry went home at noon and fled about asking the postmaster.

UNION MEETING

Christian and M. E. Church South Unite Their Sunday Night Services During July

COMBINED CHOIRS TO FURNISH THE MUSIC

The congregations of the Christian and M. E. Church, South, will unite their Sunday night services during the month of July. The first service will be held Sunday night at the Methodist church, Howard J. Brazelton, preaching the sermon. The two pastors of these churches will alternate each Sunday, and the services will also be held at the two churches alternately. The combined choirs will lead the music which will be made a special feature. It is intended to make these meetings attractive in every way, and it will not only give people an opportunity to hear a different preacher each week but also continue the friendly relations between the churches of the community. This is a worthy move in the right direction, and will doubtless result in large congregations spending a brief season each Sunday evening in the House of God.

The Busy California Hen

One California town—Petaluma—with less than 10,000 inhabitants, shipped to market last year more than 125,000,000 eggs and 88,824 dozen poultry, according to the report of the California Development Board. In addition to actual shipment of eggs to market, over 1,681,166 dozen eggs are used for hatching and for home consumption. These added to the above bring the total production of the Petaluma district up to above 145,750,000 eggs. Three million baby chicks are estimated to have been shipped away.

Mr. Spillman Named For the Mine Foreman Examining Board

Frankfort dispatches announced yesterday that Gov. McCreary had appointed A. G. Spillman, of this place, as a member of the board of examiners of mine foreman for Kentucky. Mr. Spillman is assistant general manager of the St. Bernard Mining Co., and prior to his connection with that concern he served for some years as first assistant mine inspector for Kentucky. He is considered one of the best qualified men in Kentucky for any such position as that to which he has just been appointed. Mr. Spillman's experiences as mine inspector and while connected with the Kentucky Department of mines, and his work for several years here in the practical operation of mines eminently fit him for the performance of every duty as a member of the examining board.

of the country off the railroad may be conveniently reached.
Mr. C. H. Humphrey, of Lucas-

the work. The use of the mov-his father, the late James Henry Hack-erected in this country, which stands on the Mall in Central park. This trowel will be used by the players to lay the corner stone of the Booth memorial statue shortly to be erected in Gramercy park.

Until the Plumber Arrives.

While waiting for the arrival of a plumber, when the water pipes have sprung a leak, the housewife may do a little "repaire" herself. The water should be turned off and a solder made by mixing some white with common yellow soap and just enough water to form a thick paste. Apply this mixture to the leak and in a little while the water may be turned on very slowly. This solder may last a day or longer.

Avoid Self-Consciousness.

To think about oneself all the while is to turn energy in on oneself con-of concentrating it on self and wasting it in awkward embarrassment and hurt pride.—Great Thoughts.

Bit of First Aid.
In cases of shock and collapse it may be advisable in certain cases where collapse is imminent to admin-brandy and water, but it has to be noted that the use of alcohol under such circumstances must be carefully carried out, inasmuch as in certain cases (as in apoplexy, for example) the administration of alcohol is calculated to prove highly injurious.

The Test of Love.

Of course sincerity and purity of affection has not one but many tests.
If you love you must know where the

it is. For this reason one stands with it against the world and does not wield the weapons of the world against it. Surely its assurance in the face of the storm is one of its sweetest tests.

SALE CONTINUES TEN DAYS

The Semi-Weekly Bee's GREEN RIVER TRIP

Will leave Earlington in a special coach Thursday, August 13th and will spend the afternoon in Evansville at the Salt Pool and Picture Shows. Will leave Evansville on the Steamer Bowling Green at 5 o'clock and make the 200 mile trip up Green and Barren Rivers, arriving at Bowling at 6 o'clock Saturday morning. Will leave Bowling Green about noon Saturday and reach Evanville Sunday night in time to have the special coach put on train 93. A String Band will accompany the party and plenty of good music will be furnished. This will be a good trip to take your camera on as you will be able to make pictures of the various locks, Sally's rock and many other interesting objects. The cost of the entire trip from start to finish will be $12.50 and we guarantee an interesting and pleasant time. All who wish to take the trip with the contest winners may do so by sending in their name to this office
